

Factories and production lines

Production, maintenance, quality, procurement, the warehouse, sales — each writing where it already writes.

Intelligence supports the decision. People make it.

An illustrative week — not a client's story. What FDI notices in it is one of the pack's real checks.

Without FDI

1. Monday: sales promises a customer a delivery on Friday, from this week's batch.
2. Wednesday: quality puts that batch on hold. It says so in the quality group.
3. Friday: the truck is loaded with what cannot ship — or the customer is called too late.

With FDI

1. Wednesday, the owner sees: quality holds a batch that sales has promised — both sides, dated, with their messages.
2. One request to sales, with a date: the customer hears on Wednesday, not on Friday.
3. The decision is made while there is still a choice.
